

Chick Hatchery

Some Customer Comments from 2010...

I just wanted to say "Thank you" for the beautiful little chicks! They are all doing well so far! They chirp like they are very happy!
S.C.

I have no words better than thank you for these chicks! We just picked them up from our post office. Everyone was oohing and awwing over them. They all arrived alive and well (and chirping like mad)...and even though I'm sure you must know, these little chicks are absolutely GORGEOUS!!! And massively puffy! I'm so grateful I placed an order from you. Also, thank you for the extra 2. We are looking forward to breeding a showing them in the future. Now I'm off to brag to my friends that I have some of your chicks! Ha!
M.T.

The chicks were delivered to our post office this morning by 6:30am and were in their brooder within moments. All chicks are alive and have successfully attacked their food and water...They are gorgeous chicks John. The Silver have the sharpest pattern and the Lavenders are already such a lovely color...Thank you again!
C.C.

Thank you John, Arrived early this morning. You are generous in numbers. They are so beautiful.
E.M.

Surprise, surprise. The chicks arrived on Tuesday via Express Mail. This has not happened before for any shipment that I have gotten! All the chicks were ok and got them some water and feed right away.
K.O.

They're here! All safe and sound, happy and quiet... Thanks for the extras!
L.W.

They are all alive but there are two (one black bantam AM and one lav AM) that are not doing well...Otherwise all are great looking and eating and drinking like champs :D Thanks SO much and I will keep you informed as to how they do.
C.J.

We got the chicks around 11am today. All but one are very vigorous...So thank you, Will is excited about them
C.K.

All arrived safe and sound.
A.S.

Got the chicks. All of them are alive so far ... we'll see.
J.S.

They got here this morning and picked them up at the post office. All were alive and looked good, maybe a little quiet, but good. Put them in the brooder and thought two wheatens were a little slow...Everybody else looks ok thus far. Thanks.

J.B.

chicks arrived today, haven't opened them up yet but I can hear them. I will let you know if there were any casualties, not that I would expect any more from you, just for your information. Thanks John!

N.G.

They arrived this morning! Thank you. We lost one in transit...but since you sent two extras that works out perfectly. Thank you!!! They are adorable!

S.M.

They all made it safely! Thanks!

D.M.

The chicks have arrived and they are all fine and beautiful. Thank you again. Have a great day!

K.K.

I got the chicks today. All survived and are healthy and hopefully happy! Thank you,

T.S.

I picked them up this morning. All were fine.

K.A.

Thanks so much for sending the chicks. They all arrived happy and healthy and are settling in well.

J.P.

All chicks have arrived safely and are napping in brooder. Many thanks for your generosity in extras...they are just beautiful with the blacks being exceptionally vigorous. Regards,

R.H.

Chicks arrived in good condition, all alive. A good number of lavenders, I will raise them also, They are to pretty to waste.

H.K.

The Post Office called me at 9:30 this morning and said the chicks just arrived at the post office. The post office is only 10 minutes from my house, so I immediately drove over and picked up the chicks at the post office. They appear to be in good condition.....except one Wheaten bantam was dead on arrival...Thanks again for sending me the chicks.

B.E.

I got the phone call at 5:30 this morning that they were in. They're at home and getting settled in now. There was only one lost in transit - interestingly enough, it was one of the black ones which, if I've counted right a hundred times, it looks like there was one extra of. There are two that are a little slower than others this morning but I gave them (all) a little sugar water to get them started and they're beginning to perk up.

J.S.

I got the chicks today, and they all look healthy and well.

R.C.

The chicks made it safely! I was surprised none were DOA - they must be healthy!

J.R.

The chicks arrived this morning, they all made it and they look really good. We are very excited, thank you for sending such a nice assortment.

A.H.

Hi John, I just wanted to let you know I got all 25 chicks (15 Blacks & 10 Wheatens) Tuesday afternoon. I didn't know you put all 25 chicks in the shipping box..... They are all active and healthy, eating & drinking. But the one of them has pretty bad splay legs and I don't think this one will make it. I'm thinking I have to cull him/her. Anyway, thank you so much for the beautiful chicks.

V.N.